“Assessment is the process of gathering and interpreting information about a client or situation in Free Download to develop a plan for intervention. It is an essential part of social work practice, as it helps social workers to understand the needs of their clients and to tailor their interventions accordingly.

There are many different methods of assessment that social workers can use, depending on the client's situation and the social worker's purpose. Some common methods include interviews, observations, and record reviews.

Once the social worker has gathered information about the client, they will need to interpret it in Free Download to develop a plan for intervention. This plan should be tailored to the client's individual needs and should be based on evidence-based practices.”
